

I am writing on behalf of XM satellite Radio. The satellite radio is definitely a positive addition towards technology. I rely on the programs that inform me with weather & traffic conditions when I travel. Satellite radio includes a plethora of diverse stations that are not available on regular radio. I, along with millions of others, have paid for the equipment and the service- so why should I not be able to use it?